Flowers

All flowers in Curaçao are imported due to the fact that none are grown locally. As a bride it is recommended that they be familiar with which type of flowers they prefer as well as the names so that we can inquire at the local florist how readily available they are in Curaçao. If you have no particular preference, we usually recommend tropical arrangements, which are a mix of different brightly colored flowers and greenery. Please refer to the process below to get a better understanding of the approximate price ranges on various arrangements:
